(Why use all these products when you can use any lotion on your face? You can use any lotion for keeping your face hydrated but this regime (cleanser, cleansing balm, toner and cream) helps repair damage from all of the elements that it is exposed to. Once repaired properly then you only need to do the entire regime occasionally unless you are out in the elements all day or wear makeup)

True Body Butters

True body butters are pure oils and butters. While they are very moisturizing they can leave your skin feeling a tad greasy unless they are formulated correctly. Body butters, many made without water, condition, hydrate and help keep the skin barrier more resilient. No more cracked and painful hands. A teaspoon of body butter will provide as much moisturizing power as a tablespoon of lotion.

Emulsified body butters are the best of lotions and true body butters. The emulsions combine oil and butter with water to bring deep hydration without the greasiness. These body butters are very concentrated so you only need a little bit to hydrate the skin.

Cupuacu Summer Body Butter: This emulsified body butter is infused with restorative and deeply hydrating cupuacu butter and apricot kernel oil. It is hydrating, as body butters are, but is light enough for summer. The added Propanediol, tocopherol, and Hydroxyethylcellulose work together to enhance the skin's natural barrier and lock in hydration, leaving your skin feeling supple and nourished all summer long.

Prickly Pear Body Butter: Made with silky Murumuru butter and nourishing Prickly Pear oil, this decadent body butter will leave your skin feeling silky smooth and deeply nourished, with a scent that will transport you to a tropical paradise.

Honey Oat Body Butter: This body butter is light enough for summer and leaves your skin smooth and refreshed. Honey and oat soothe and nourish, while illipe butter intensely moisturizes and softens. Ideal for dry or sensitive skin, its non-greasy formula suits everyday use.

Lotions

Lotions are primarily water. This is why using lotion sinks in quickly and feels great but can offer little hydration. Lotions can have up to 85% water in their formulation. Our lotions are more concentrated and use less water than most lotions found on the market today so they don't come in pump bottles (jars are more appropriate for the thickness of our lotions). Our lotions go on smoothly, feel amazing and leave your skin barrier better than before you used it.
